REPORT OF ## SCHOOL SUPERVISOR

North Haven, Conn.,

July, 14, 1933.

To the Cheshire Board of Education:

The following is my annual report as supervisor of schools for the year ending July 14, 1933:

ECONOMY IN SCHOOL EXPENDITURES

The present depression has called for a more careful scrutiny of school expenditures. During the past three years necessities only have been purchased at the lowest cost consistent with quality, service and retention of the standards of education in our schools. There are certain fixed rate charges such as high school tuition and transportation. There are yearly increases in these items due to increases in the number of high school pupils. The amount spent for text books and supplies has been decreased. Only necessary expense for upkeep and repairs, heat and light have been made. The number of pupils per teacher has been increased instead of securing additional teachers. Space in the basement has been used for one class-room. Increases in salaries called for in the teachers' salary scale have been suspended temporarily. The Cheshire average salary for class-room teachers is below the average paid by towns of its size and neighboring large towns and cities. In a comparative salary list of twenty-five towns of approximate size with seven neighboring large towns and cities Cheshire ranks fourteenth from the foot of the list.

The situation presents an educational opportunity for the teaching of economy by more careful use of school material and care of school property. The condition of our school property is evidence that our principal and teachers are aware of the importance of the care of public property.

WHAT IS THE "NEW EDUCATION"?

A few brief statements of the objectives of the "New Education" will be more enlightening than a discussion of the subject with the use of pedagogical terminology.

The "New Education" recognizes the fact that the whole child goes to school. His emotions are as important as his intellect. His standards of right and wrong are vital. His physical health is a strong factor in his reactions.

In the "New Education" friendliness replaces the old formal school control. The teacher is a guide and a friend. When necessary she is a court of appeal, and is responsible for a square deal for every pupil.

The social situations of the school life are opportunities for practice in citizenship; how to get along with others, practice in leadership, training in following good leadership, and growth in personal responsibility for law and order.

The pupil is encouraged to think before making a decision or expressing an opinion. Why and how are more important than when, where, and who of the old school.

To look, listen, and repeat are not enough. There must be experiences with things seen, felt, and heard. This calls for shop and laboratory equipment as well as library.

The "New Education" provides for cooperative planning. Teachers and pupils plan the work together. Standards of achievement are set up with judging of results and suggestions for improvement.

The formal recitation is replaced by interesting study groups, club organizations, and dramatizations of history, literature, geography, and civics.

The child expresses himself in color, form, music, clay, dramatization and games, as well as with paper and pencil. His ideas for expression are gained from the outside world as well as in the school room. The "New Education" endeavors to bring life conditions into the school room.

Uniform achievement is not set up for all pupils. The number of cases of failures is decreased by measuring the child by his interest and effort. Is the child doing his best? Is he working in the group where he can do his best?

The "New Education" seeks to improve the school by consolidating the educational agencies working for the educational growth of the child; namely, the school and the home. The P. T. A. is doing an excellent work in bringing these agencies together.

The "New Education" has discarded so called fundamentals of the old school. To discover and know the true facts which support a statement or opinion within the interests of the pupils are the fundamentals of the "New Education". Unless an adult is gifted with an unusual memory for detail, he recalls but few of the isolated facts, rules, and processes learned in the old school. How many of us can "do" cube root? Where is Samar? How many soldiers were killed at the battle of Saratoga? The average adult knows facts used every day in connection with his occupation. He looks up other facts when needed. He knows the spelling words necessary to his occupation. He relearns the arithmetic processes necessary to his occupation.

Changes in favor of the "New Education" come by substitution and growth, not by revolution. We are not ready to throw out entirely the old school fundamentals. In time we shall look back and realize the time wasted in drilling isolated facts which were not retained.

THE SPECIAL EDUCATION ROOM

Below is given an outline of the organization and objectives of the room for special education. The points given cover the questions which are asked by parents.

Information in respect to high schools is also given. It should be noted that in 1942 all State Aid will be withdrawn. Information as to comparative costs and educational values of local and non-local high schools is noted. An outline of a possible high school organization using the present registration is given also.

1—Teacher, Mrs. Genevieve Collins, State certificate for teaching subnormal pupils.

2—Registration—20 pupils—4% of total school registration.

3—Membership—75% maximum intelligence.

Intelligence determined by State examiner—Binet test.

10-16 years of age chronologically.

4—Program—1/3 time given to common school subjects.

1/3 time given to hand work.

1/3 time given to physical education.

5—State Aid—$40. per pupil based on attendance.

6—Equipment a—1 combined kitchen and sewing room—play room.

b—1 class room.

c—Work benches and tools—material

d—Looms.

e—Library and town library.

f—Piano.

7—Activities

Cooking —sewing — wood and metal work — weaving.

a—Useful articles for sale and for use in other grades.

b—Circus set for kindergarten with presentation exercises.

c—Library furniture for Miss Meade's room with presentation exercises.

d—Christmas sale, used for purchase of material—earned $14.

Picnic—Mrs. Nettleton entertained class at her home.

Circus—Pupils attended for first time.

8—Records—Individual progress of each pupil.

9—Relation with parents:

Teacher has visited each family.

Parents visit school.

10—Objectives:

a—To provide a trained teacher in this special work.

b—To remove these pupils from the regular class rooms.

- c—To give individual study and remedial work to each child.
- d—To retail their social contacts with the entire school at all general gatherings of the school.
- e—To carry each pupil in the common school subjects as far as possible and at a rate of speed determined by his mentality. The fifth or sixth grade is the usual limitation for the best pupils.
- f—To remove or modify the individual pupil's particular complex. The complex is usually expressed by resentment or lack of confidence due to constant failure in the class room. He has been a discipline case or a slacker.
- g—To encourage and develop his mechanical ability by which he will be obliged to earn his living.
- h—To send him out into life with a good attitude toward society. In most cases resentment and discouragement are immediately replaced by confidence and happiness due to the satisfaction experienced by these pupils in discovering that there is something that they can do successfully.

11—Placement:

So far all girls who have left this room have been placed in housekeeping jobs. The nurse has assisted in this follow-up work. The boys have returned home to help on their parents' farms. So far we have been able to place all pupils on leaving this class. We shall have difficulty in placing the boys who have no home farms when such cases arise. The trade school has no training for this class of boys. The trade school has accepted this year boys from the grades who are slow normal.

In connection with this placement work, all pupils of the Humiston School, of legal working age, have secured working certificates, and have been assisted as far as possible in securing jobs. Factories, stores, and people needing boys for odd jobs have been visited by me and the school nurse who has assisted in this work.

12—Rating:      Other special education teachers are sent to this school for observation.

Rated above rooms visited in other towns and cities.

13—Needs:

When additional building is provided, the special education room should be an integral part of the school.

Assisted physician with examination of first, fourth and eighth grades, to total number 143. These examinations consist of lungs, heart, posture, feet and malnutrition. There were 67 children with poor posture, these are given special exercises. 33 children had flat feet, these also are given special exercises. 4 children had heart murmur who are watched closely and not permitted to do any competitive exercise. 3 children extremely undernourished, these are served milk in school daily. There were 24 children found physically perfect.

Summer Round-Up

The usual Summer Round Up was held, total of 56 attending were examined, weighed and measured — found 42 children correct weight — 7 over weight — 7 under weight — 17 children who had defective temporary teeth — 7 were found with defective vision — 8 with enlarged tonsils — 13 with poor posture — 3 with flat feet — 31 were vaccinated and 21 immunized against diphtheria.

You will see by the statistical report that our school activities were numerous.

We start our individual inspections early in the school year, they consist of teeth, tonsils, hearing, vision and pediculosis.

Weighing and measuring is done twice during the school year.

The parents are notified of the defects found and advised to have these corrected. We have not had as many corrections this year as we have had previous years, due, of course to the continual economic depression and unemployment, tho the defects which required urgent care were corrected and financed by the Sunshine Society and in some instances by interested individuals. Aching teeth have been cared for at the Dispensaries. Children with defective vision have all been cared for.

We have three crippled children, 2 of these are post infantile paralysis cases and 1 congenital hip disease. These are all under proper treatment and 2 in particular are greatly improved.

Served milk to all tuberculosis contact children and others who were underweight and under par physically.

Many articles of clothing have been distributed to the needy.

Preventing and controlling communicable diseases is the most essential part of school health program. This year we were visited by a very mild type of scarlet fever, consequently we had difficulty in controlling it, otherwise the health of the school children in general was good.

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN A. BRUGER, R.N.

REPORT OF HEALTH OFFICER

---

Cheshire, Connecticut, September 1, 1933.

Honorable Board of Selectmen:

Gentlemen:

I hereby render my report as Health Officer for Cheshire for the year ending September 1, 1933.

Health conditions during the past year have been about on the average with the past few years with the exception of an epidemic of Scarlet Fever which was State wide but of a mild character. Many of the cases did not develop the characteristic rash, making the diagnosis difficult until many contacts had been established. A few of these cases were severe enough to require antitoxin. Fortunately we had no mortality.

Physical examinations were made of all children entering school and parents notified of defects found, many of which have been corrected. All children were vaccinated and the majority immunized against diphtheria.

Swimming pools were inspected and water analyzed finding it safe for swimming purposes.

Clean up week was observed with marked success.

All nuisances reported have been promptly abated.

The general sanitary condition of the town is satisfactory.

Respectfully submitted,

WILBUR J. MOORE, M.D.
